Thirty years ago Bethel's history found a home on Broad Street

By ALISON ALOISIO

During the 30 years it has served as the centerpiece of the Bethel Historical Society, the Moses Mason House has welcomed a broad spectrum of visitors.

There have been jeeps and golfers coming across the common from the Bethel Inn. There have been school children from Crescent Park and other schools.

There were even some sheep that showed up one winter night to warm themselves by the old fireplace.

Since the house began serving as the headquarters for the Bethel Historical Society in 1974, about 3,000 people a year have come through its doors for a tour. That's a total of nearly 100,000 — enough to fill a football stadium or two.

Judy Haskell is a longtime guide at the house, which was built in 1813 by Dr. Moses Mason, a prominent citizen of Bethel. She remembers the home from before BHS took it over and restored it, in the early 1970s. "The house was in tough shape," she said.

The Historical Society had been established a few years earlier, in 1966. The small organization was powered largely by resident Eva Bean, a dedicated volunteer and collector of historical material.

At that time, such material was housed in the Bethel Library.

The historical group got a boost when Dr. Sidney W. Davidson, of the William Bingham II Trust for Charity became interested in a project to restore the house and give it to the society. Under his leadership, it was purchased by the trust.

Marius Peladeau of the Maine League of Historical Societies and Museums, saw the potential in the Federal Period house.

"I believe the Moses Mason House can become the focal point for a rebirth of historical interest in the entire north-western corner of our state," he was quoted as saying in the Maine History News.

Particularly interesting features of the home were the hand-painted murals in the hallways, which were still in excellent condition.

Such murals were imitations of expensive scenic wallpaper imported from Europe, which rural New Englanders could not afford, according to the History News.

Route 35 appears bound for Route 5

The were no objections raised Monday to the Maine Department of Transportation's proposal to remove the "Route 35" designation from Vernon Street.

In fact, at a public hearing on the matter no one but town selectmen (who were meeting immediately after the hearing) bothered to show up.

And the selectmen thought MDOT's proposal makes a lot of sense.

Route 35 northbound currently follows Route 5 from Lynchville to Hunts Corner.

From there the two routes split and find their own ways to Bethel — with Route 35 veering east and following Vernon Street, and Route 5 taking a more westerly path along Songo

Change is waiting in the wings for Airport Authority

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Board of Selectmen has decided it's time for some changes at the Bethel Airport Authority, and perhaps even time to consider changes in the way the facility itself is supported.

The consensus, reached at this week's selectmen's meeting, stems in part from frustration over ongoing disputes involving the authority.

The authority has had "lousy press recently," Mike Murphy told the selectmen. "This internal squabbling between certain individuals and the board is making bad news in aviation circles. It travels fast, the bad news."

Selectman Stan Howe said he was troubled by the acrimony, and felt the airport should be run more like a business.

"It's been run too much on the side of the pilots," he said.

Dutch Dresser, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, said there was consensus on the board that changes were needed, a process that will begin with a reformulation of ordinances related to the Airport Authority.

The selectmen Monday considered several proposals ("discussion points") for possible changes, the most significant being to reduce the size of the authority, from its current seven members to three.

Also mentioned in passing, but not formally proposed, was the possibility of funding part of the airport's future operation from property tax revenues.

Howe predicted strong resistance to such a move.

He noted that when the Airport Authority was set up in the early 1980s, it passed the Board of Selectmen and Town

And next door, John Head spent almost three decades helping grow another local institution

The Bethel Library, next door to the Robinson House, has prospered through the same era as the Historical Society.

During most of that time — 28 years — John Head has served as the library's treasurer. He retired last month, turning responsibilities over to Mike Drapeau.

Over the past three decades, the library's endowment funds have grown from four to two dozen. Most of them were established by local residents or their families.

In 1975, savings and endowments totaled $7,872. Today, they stand at $215,814.

"John was the spark that got things going to get the endowments increasing," said Becky Kendall, the library's secretary and a trustee.

She said he was also instrumental in an early project to rebuild an upstairs room in the library.

Kendall also credited Head for carefully keeping track of the books over the years. "He diligently watched the finances," she said.

The library now runs on a budget of $50,000 a year, compared to about $5,000 in 1975.

In addition to private donations and fundraising, the town and state contribute about $15,000 annually.

Most satisfying for Head during his tenure, he said, was the establishment of an endowment fund in memory of Agnes Hastings Straw.

Straw, a prominent citizen of Bethel, bequeathed $20,000 to the library on her death in the 1920s. But, said Head, the money was all spent to operate the library over subsequent years.

By gradually putting aside other earnings over the last 30, the library was able to build a fund in her name.

Other areas of growth Since 1975, the number of books and other items at the library has grown from 13,000 to about 20,000. There

THE SKY IS NOT FALLING

To the Editor:

• Doom and gloom! Gloom and doom! It's Chicken Little's, "The sky is falling." It will be the end of the world, scream the headlines and TV ads, if Proposition 1 (the tax cap) passes. Well I say baloney.

• The naysayers said the same things about Prop. 13 in California and it didn't happen. They also said the same things about Prop 2½ in Massachusetts and it didn't happen. And it won't happen here in Maine. What then is the problem?

• It's all about spending money. If money is available for Augusta to spend they will spend it. They even spend money before they have it. If you don't believe it look at past history. For over 30 years the liberal spenders have been in control and their spending has outpaced actual revenues, inflation, the consumer price index and population growth. It must stop, and Proposition 1 is the way to do it.

• There is enough money now to fund all the necessary programs: education, fire, police, and the safety net. What we need on both the state and local level is belt tightening. Anyone in authority should spend public money just like it is their own, without using a credit card. Every program needs to be sun-setted and only reinstated when it is absolutely necessary, is being done in the most efficient way, isn't being duplicated anywhere else, and is in sync with the other states in New England. Every government administrator needs to justify with real data, his or her position.

• It's about time the people of Maine who pay all the taxes (the revenue politicians love to spend) take back control. Vote "yes" for the tax cap and force the Legislature to justify every program already on the books before they fund it. Don't let the scare tactics of the special interest groups influence your vote on Nov. 2.

STATE GOVERNMENT IS STILL US

To the Editor:

My tax bill came last week. I find that $1,262 (57 percent) will go to local schools, 35 percent will go toward running the town and 6 percent will go to the county.

• If question one (tax cap) passes, I just don't see how the schools or the town can function. Am I missing something? Is our state government in a position to make up the difference? Isn't state government still us?

CELINA'S GARDEN DEDICATION

To the Editor:

• Everyone is invited to the dedication of Celina's Garden at Crescent Park School on Thursday, Oct. 7 at 1:30 p.m., rain or shine. For those who cannot make the event, there will also be a small gathering on Saturday, Oct. 23, at 2 p.m.

The garden was planned and created by family and friends of Celina Jodrey, whom we lost so tragically last April. Celina was well known for her love of children, gardening and reading; a granite reading bench was specially made to invite all to sit and read and remember in the hope that her memory stays alive forever.

We would like to thank D.A. Wilson and Richard Douglass for donating materials to the garden.

• Please join us and the whole student body of CPS for this dedication. We hope to see you all there.

ATV GROUP TO MEET

To the Editor:

• The Bethel Recreational Riders ATV Club will be holding its first public meeting on Oct. 16 at 113 Flat Road.

With the change in ATV laws regarding landowner permission late this summer the state is encouraging ATV owners to be affiliated with a club and establish a maintained trail system.

• Our club is interested in establishing a trail system through the Bethel area in the hope that it will eventually lead to an interconnecting system out of the area. The club encourages interested persons/families to join. For more information, contact me at 836-2028.

IT'S A RIGHT TO DISPLAY SIGNS

To the Editor:

I was told this evening about an incident that others should know about.

An older, visually impaired lady had a Kerry sign on her lawn. Someone took the sign down, tore it and threw it in the ditch.

It makes no difference which candidate it is, let's respect each other's right to display signs of our choosing. Let's be civil to one another in this hotly contested presidential race and above all let's respect personal property.

TO THE FOLKS OF GREENWOOD

To the Editor:

On Oct. 14 at 7 p.m. there is a very important Town Meeting at the Greenwood Town Hall. It is to see if I will be recalled as your selectman. This is not a case of what I did wrong against the town, but for asking tough questions to a past selectperson and the two sitting selectmen. When we as selectmen make policy it must be for the good of the whole town. We cannot make policy behind closed doors.

First, the salt shed was a mess that cost you a lot of money. I got that squared away, but it still is not a $260,000 shed. That still stays on my mind.

Second, the dam that holds back three of our lakes is now safe. The other two selectmen wanted to wait on the dam and do nothing. I was called to the dam by the road foreman and told that Selectman Wayne Hakala had told the Town Crew to open the dam for the weekend due to a rain forecast, and it now could not be closed, and the dam was in peril.

1) It is against the law for a selectman to tell the road crew what to do. It has to go through the town manager.

2) It did not rain that weekend.

3) If the town crew opened the gate as ordered by Hakala, the lakes would have not come back all summer.

When I told the other two selectmen we had to act there was a "no" for a response. I got the cofferdam fixed at a savings of $15,000 with help from the Fire Department, Road Crew, Cubby Swan, 10 Engineer CDBG grant people, AVCOG, Andre Construction, and Bernier Concrete. It is done. It took many, many hours to get this done for which I did not ask to be paid.

Let me speak about my depleting the office salary wage account. I feel the reason is that the past town manager stayed for seven weeks after the new town manager came in. At $700 a week that brought the total to $4,900 dollars that emptied the account. The former town manager was only to stay for two weeks. I did ask the new Town Manager if she could take over after two weeks and she said yes. The other two selectmen told the former town manager that she could stay until the first of the year if she wanted to.

No one was going to training, or grant writing but me in the town office. I felt that we as a board lacked up-to-date training and had no idea what was going on and that I had to get this training. I have worked to get hundreds of junk cars hauled off from Greenwood and Woodstock. I worked to get the crosswalks painted and signs put up in the village. I have worked to get the agreement with Woodstock fair to Greenwood. At first this did make for heated talks, but as of now I feel I have a good working relationship with Woodstock selectmen.

I would like to be able to finish my term, as I have a few more things I feel would be good for the people of Greenwood. One is to get a $400,000 grant for the elderly and people who do not have what I have. This $400,000 would be for Greenwood, Woodstock, and maybe West Paris. Second, to get a business on the Gordon property. There is a grant available to help us do this.

I am asking for your help. Please come to the meeting and vote for me to continue working for you and the town.

I wish to thank the people of Greenwood who have supported me.

TIM CARTER

To the Editor:

Tim Carter grew up and worked in a family that has been in the business of agriculture for many generations. After twenty-five years of being the owner/operator of Carter Farm, he worked for seven years as the Northeast Area Director of the USDA. He is a strong advocate for fair tax reform for small businesses and sustainable development for the community. The World Commission on the Environment and Development calls sustainability, "development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs." It means keeping our children's future in mind as we conduct businesses that affect our natural resources. Carter was a participant in Gov. Baldacci's Blaine House Conference where people from all over the state convened to discuss the advantages in pursuing a "Creative and Sustainable Economy" for their communities.

I hope you'll support Tim Carter, Kerry/Edwards, Bryant and Michaud; among their strengths is the initiative they have taken to create jobs. And please keep an eye out for the next follow-up conference on "Creative Economy" right here in Bethel.

BRUCE BRYANT

To the Editor:

Two pieces of legislation, particularly dear to my heart, were enacted into law last term and Sen. Bruce Bryant was a primary force in getting them passed.

LD 1318 is now Public Law 670. It sets rates of compensation for harvesting and hauling timber. Of course, it's more complex than that. There's a petition process and a three-person panel to judge and act on the petition. It gives workers some degree of bargaining power where landowners own thousands of acres of timberland. Without this law, the powerful landowner could just about call the shots. A group of us tried to get something like this done when I was a legislator. We failed.

LD1962 is now Resolve 2003. It's a committee effort chaired by Bryant and worked on by the committee he chairs, Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry. This resolve goes a long way in eliminating liquidation harvesting of forestland. I worked hard on this issue when I was a legislator. With a coalition of like-minded representatives and senators, we wanted to get such a bill passed. We thought of liquidation harvesting as merciless clear cutting. We hit a brick wall. Bryant got it done.

It is not easy to get legislation passed. You have to work to get a majority of votes in both the House and Senate. The governor must be convinced the enacted legislation is workable in "the real world."

These two laws advance the rights of Maine workers and our future, the Maine environment. Well done, Senator Bryant. I'll do what I can to make sure you continue to serve us, and thank you.

JOHN KERRY

To the Editor:

President Bush's recent visit to Maine reminded me of Pinocchio. Does he tell those tall tales because he can't help it, or because he thinks Mainers are too dim to check the facts?

Mr. Bush lied about the WMDs. Now he says the war in Iraq helps fight terrorism, and that makes his nose grow. Osama Bin Laden is on the Afghan border, but most of our troops aren't. Bush says he's made our nation more secure, but he's done almost nothing to protect our ports, chemical factories, and nuke plants from terrorists. And now he's telling Mainers that John Kerry will raise your taxes. That's a lie unless you're in the top tax bracket, which most of us aren't. We have the largest deficit in history because George Bush gave hundreds of billions in tax cuts to millionaires who don't need it.

I'm a Republican, but no more lies for me. John Kerry may not be the warmest guy in the world, but at least his nose isn't as long as his arm.

Briefly

No special Town Meeting

WOODSTOCK — Selectmen Tuesday decided against holding a special Town Meeting this month. They will instead wait and place two articles on the annual Town Meeting warrant in March. They said the articles are too important to be decided by a small number of voters. One article asks voters to ratify their vote from the last annual Town Meeting to discontinue a section of the Ricker Road and turn it over to abutting landowner Warren Hillquist. Voters approved the article, which also said the town would take the road back if requested by Hillquist or his heirs. But selectmen said many voters believed at the time that the town would not have to take it back, and a second vote would clarify the issue. The second article proposes a property tax break for Tim and Francis Buck for a restaurant they plan next to the Mollycodd Motel on Route 26. The selectmen said it would set a precedent and they do not support it.

5K run/walk supports Girls on Run

BETHEL — The first annual Community and Family 5K run/walk, to benefit the Western Maine Girls on the Run program, will take place Nov. 13. The run will follow a very flat route through the village of Bethel. Girls on the Run is a nine-week program for girls ages 8 to 12 that utilizes self-esteem enhancing workouts in training for the 5K. This fall, similar programs were started in Norway and Rumford. For an entrance form e-mail goldberg@megalink.net.

Selectmen oppose tax cap

HANOVER — Selectmen last week unanimously voiced their opposition to the Palesky tax-cap referendum. The board estimated if the proposal passed, Hanover would lose about $72,000, from its budget. That would be the equivalent of 22 percent of its current budget of $330,000. Selectmen also added an article to the warrant for the annual Town Meeting, scheduled for Oct. 26, to allow the presentation of information, as well as comments and questions, on the issue.

Ski sale coming

BETHEL — The Bethel Outing Club's 24th annual Ski Sale will take place Friday, Oct. 29 and Saturday, Oct. 30. The sale will again be held at the Gould Academy Field House. Sale hours are Friday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Individuals and families can stock up on brand-new and used alpine, telemark, cross country and snowboard equipment and clothing in sizes for toddlers through adult. Boots, poles, bindings, boards and more than a thousand pairs of skis from individuals and more than a dozen ski shops will be available. The club has also launched a Web site www.bethelouting.org, which will soon offer instructions for individuals who want to sell their own equipment, and for ski shops participating in the sale. The site will have specific guidelines for consigned equipment — to discourage obsolete bindings and non-usable equipment, and to encourage pre-sale registration for sellers to avoid a tagging fee. Information about the club's other activities such as the annual Flying Moose Nordic ski race, Club photos and an Activities Calendar are being published on the site. Proceeds of the 24th annual Ski Sale will benefit area youth ski programs by providing skis, boots, and poles for elementary school students, funding middle and high school Nordic programs, and making grants to area skiers on state, regional, or national cross-country teams. The purpose of the Bethel Outing Club is to promote Nordic skiing and family-oriented outings with particular emphasis on youth ski programs. Vendor information may be obtained from Kirk Siegel kirks@megalink.net or 824-0717.

Donate to Desert Stocking

STONEHAM — Operation Desert Stocking, a Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War sponsored project to send Christmas Stockings to the Maine National Guard 133rd Engineer Battalion on duty in Iraq, is gaining momentum. Support from businesses, individuals, area high schools and youth organizations has been generous, according to organizers. People wishing to contribute may drop items off at Northern Cumberland Memorial Hospital in Bridgton; Rumford Area Hospital and the Rumford Veterans; and Fryeburg Academy. Suggested items include: cookies (individual pkgs.); crackers (individual pkgs.); Cup a Soup; dried fruits/nuts; Goldfish; granola bars; gum/bubble gum; hard candy and candy canes; instant hot cereals; microwave popcorn; pop tarts; snack mix (Chex, etc., individual pkgs.); cider mix; cocoa (individual packets); coffee creamer; instant coffee; presweetened drink mix (Kool-Aid, etc.); tea bags; comic books; crossword/puzzle books; travel games; Frisbees; Nerf footballs; feminine products; hair items (elastics, barrettes, etc); small Tylenol, Ibuprofen, etc.; Tums/Roloids; and batteries. Because of the high cost of postage, monetary gifts can be left at any drop-off site or sent to the DUVCW, c/o Joyce Gouin, 6 Maple Street, Norway, ME 04268. Last pick-up day will be Oct. 23, when a caravan will visit all drop-off sites. Packing and shipping will begin Oct. 24.

Taylor's 'Hands' exhibit at USM

PORTLAND — Maine photographer Sally Taylor is exhibiting her series of photographs of hands, "The Language of Hands," in the UnumProvident Great Reading Room in USM's Glickman Family Library, Forest Ave., Portland. The exhibit is open to the public during library hours through Friday, Dec. 10. Each photograph in the exhibit portrays hands in different poses or working with various items such as playing the piano or speaking in sign language. From 5-7 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 15, there will be a reception for the exhibit at which Taylor will speak. Brenda Schertz, a USM lecturer in the Linguistics Department, will discuss the exhibit and nonverbal expression. A sign language interpreter will be present. Taylor holds a bachelor's degree in art from Smith College and now runs Playhouse Antiques and a bed and breakfast in Bethel. Her Language of Hands photography exhibits has appeared at Gould Academy, the University College Center at Rumford/Mexico, and the Maine Handicapped Skiing Center at Sunday River Ski Resort. For more information, contact the Glickman Family Library at 780-4790.

PERC program offered

BETHEL — A program to help parents understand and communicate with their adolescents begins Oct. 13. Parent Effectiveness in Resolving Conflict (PERC) is part of a statewide series run by the Julie Foundation and is a step-by-step approach to help parents understand the nature of adolescents, to communicate more effectively, to be comfortable with drugs and issues related to sexuality, and to take a positive look at tools that have proven to work. Wayne DuPlessis, a local psychotherapist who specializes in adolescents and who has been with the PERC program since its founding in 1995, will facilitate the course. The six-week course is on Tuesday nights from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. beginning Oct. 13. The $15 registration fee includes reference books. A scholarship program is also available. To register, call 824-2780.

chased, a painstaking, two-year restoration followed. Consultants from the Smithsonian Institute and Sturbridge Village provided advice during the process.

The wood floors were sanded to bring back their original appearance, and volunteers did research to uncover such details as the original colors of the walls.

All the hard work paid off in 1972, when the home was designated a national historic place.

In 1974, the deed was awarded to BHS, and Stan Howe was hired as curator.

But the house that would serve as a museum still had to be furnished. Rosalind Chapman, one of the original BHS trustees, remembers the call went out for people to donate items to fill the home.

"We decided we had to only take things pertinent to the house," she said. "Otherwise, we would have been swamped."

As it was, more than 70 people donated furnishings — some of them original to the house. Items included a Boston rocker, Hitchcock chairs, pewter, bed linen and quilts.

The response to the request for donations became a source of local pride, then-president Margaret Joy Tibbetts wrote in an account of the effort in the History News.

The pieces, she said, helped create an accurate picture of the times during which the Mason family lived.

"Dr. and Mrs. Mason were people with strong family traditions. They were also, like their friends and neighbors, citizens of a frontier community often preoccupied with such problems as garden pests or making sure that they had enough firewood. The House reflects both their position as local dignitaries and the simplicity of life in Maine's interior 150 years ago," she wrote.

A history hub

After the building was dedicated on July 10, 1974, the society and its membership grew and prospered.

"It focused everything, and gave us a presence, right there on the common" said Howe. "Every time we sent out a newsletter, more and more people would join."

Research and publishing were the focus of early activities at the house.

"At the time, we were publishing more than the Maine Historical Society," said Randy Bennett, the current curator of collections. "We were known as 'the history factory.'"

Chapman was a volunteer researcher. She also wrote articles on streets, roads and property in the area.

As the collection grew, "the genealogists started to arrive," said Bennett, to do research. "We started collecting town histories (from area towns) for the families." The focus became more regional.

As time passed, the historians and volunteers also began putting together exhibits and activities.

In 1975, for instance, BHS held "Heritage Day," featuring craft displays and demonstrations, slides and tours. A display entitled "The Family Farm" also opened that day, in the lobby of the Bethel Savings Bank.

While other activities multiplied, the tours continued at the Moses Mason House.

Haskell has been guiding since 1975. Even in the early days, "we had people here morning and afternoon," she said. "And we had lots of kids."

The level of interest among youngsters, then and now, could vary widely.

One 8-year-old who had read the whole "Little House on the Prairie" book series told Haskell, "I'm so glad to be here." The child toured the house with great respect and interest.

Other, more rambunctious, youngsters have to be watched closely, she said.

One group of visitors came annually, during the "Living Nativity."

The Christmas-season event on the common features local residents and animals who re-enact the Nativity scene. For many years, the people changed into their costumes in the MMH barn.

While they dressed, the sheep from the cast warmed themselves next to the huge fireplace.

"It was neat to have animals back in the barn," said Bennett.

MMH has also been visited over the years by most of Maine's prominent historians, he said.

The late Sen. Edmund S. Muskie also visited. He took part in the 1977 dedication ceremonies for the Bethel Historic District.

Then there was the day Bennett ran into then-NBC television correspondent Douglas Kiker in the hallway.

Kiker was in town to interview Howe about Maine's 19th-century practice of naming towns after foreign countries — and to film the famous sign in Lynchville that lists many of them.

Still growing

Today, the offices of the 1,200-member society are next door to the Mason House, in the larger Robinson House.

Acquired in 1999, the house provides more space for exhibits, offices and other activities. Future plans call for construction of a barn behind it to house a new research library, a climate-controlled storage room and a new classroom.

Bennett, Howe and the members/volunteers are glad they are no longer cramped in the tiny upstairs of MMH.

But the home's tours and its popularity continue.

"We'll never forget the Moses Mason House," said Howe. "It's our real gem."

are also two computers available for public use.

The library building itself, designed in the 1930s by Portland architect John Colvin Stevens, has also gone through a series of improvements.

Since the 1970s the dirt floor in the basement has been replaced by a concrete one, a new furnace has been installed and, most recently a major renovation improved the stacks section.

Airport

Meeting by extremely close votes, with the clear understanding all around that the airport operation would be self supporting.

But Dresser thought that day, to might be changing.

"I believe, and I may be all alone on this, the self-funding notion that Stan likes has been OK to date, but at some point in time, I think we're going to have to destigmatize [the airport] and make it a piece of town infrastructure."

Selectman Don Bennett agreed. "Taxpayers need to understand one thing here: this airport, like it or not, is a very important part of this town now," he argued. "Backing away from the airport now is not an option. It simply isn't. We're going to support it one way or another. I think everyone needs to hear that and understand it."

More support, in the form of federal funding is also on the horizon.

Cole told the board that approximately $480,000 is expected to be made available "primarily geared to apron expansion."

Those funds will require a 2.5 percent match from both the state and the town.

"We're gunning for construction in summer of '05," he said.

Route 35

Pond Road to Route 2. MDOT Regional Manager Norman Haggan told the selectmen, that the more westerly route was also the most logical for Route 35.

"We think Route 35 would serve the town and public and most of the residents better if once it gets to Albany it stays on 5 until it gets to Bethel."

Route 35 runs from Bethel to Kennebunkport, and Haggan said that for drivers headed in that direction it was "a much more relaxed alternative" to larger highways.

Selectman Stan Howe — who greets many visitors in his other role as executive director of the Bethel Historical Society — agreed.

"I quite often tell people to take 35," Howe said. "It's got lots of nice landscapes, and Maine scenes."

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston
Hi and Mary Lou Berry, along with Dana and Beverly Eames of Wilton, traveled to and around Prince Edward Island for five days recently. They were royally entertained by a cousin, Angeline Shaw and all the P.E.I. relatives they had never before met. It was a great time for all to meet their extended family.

Hi and Mary Lou Berry attended the christening of Mary Lou's great-granddaughter, Megan Elise Gartley, in Walpole, Mass., recently.

Don Ferrero, New Bedford, Mass., and Linda Paine Jackson of New Brunswick, Canada were weekend visitors of Linda's parents, Bud and Mary Paine.

Phyllis Bancroft, formerly of Albany, now of 35 Hebron Road, South Paris has returned to her home after being a patient at the Maine Veterans' Home in South Paris. Her daughter, Judy Lapham Halle of Lisbon Falls helped her mother with the return home.

C. Rodney Wentzell from Mt. Pleasant, S.C., and The Cape, Mass., and his son Stephen and wife were visitors with their sister/aunt Mary Wentzell Eichel at Songo Pond. Rodney attended the Gould Academy Alumni Luncheon on Saturday with the Class of 1939 classmates celebrating their 65th reunion.

The 1939 classmates returning for their 65th reunion at Gould Academy were Mike Thurston and wife Connie, Virginia Smith Hutchins and husband Lee, Arlene Greenleaf Brown, Mary Clough Rice-Keniston and husband Earlon, all of Bethel; Liz (Becky) Field Blanchard and husband Leon (Shorty), Barre, Mass.; Priscilla Duckworth Higgins and husband Frances of Worcester, Mass.; C. Rodney Wentzell of The Cape, Mass., and Mt. Pleasant, S.C., and his sister, Mary Eichel of Bethel and Auburn, Mass.; and a guest, Harry Kuzyk of Bethel. They attended the Alumni Meeting and Luncheon at Gould Saturday morning. They all gathered at Mike and Connie's for pre-dinner appetizers then on to Liam's for dinner.

Carl and Lona Keniston Meaux of Duluth, Ga., arrived last Thursday to visit with Earlon and Mary Keniston and to attend Gould Academy activities on the weekend. The Meauxs and Kenistons visited with Ruth Feeney at their new home in Woodstock on Friday morning.

The Gould Academy Class of 1964 celebrated their 40th reunion on the weekend with 15 members returning. All present were Donald and Cheryl Bennett, Dale Stevens and wife Barbara, Irving York, all of Bethel; Susan M. French, Manchester, N.H.; Norma Jean Sloan Pedford, Safety Harbor, Fla.; Donald Young and wife of Denver, Colo.; Linda Curtis Westleigh and husband Reginald of West Bethel; Jane Luxton, Portland; Susan Powers Lee-Leeson and husband, Binghamton, N.Y.; Burnham Rice and wife Gloria of Woodstock; Jonathan Stowell, Shirley, Mass.; Janice Tinkham Bulger and husband, Churchville, Md.; Joey Runyon, Freeport; Linda Paine Jackson, New Brunswick, Canada. Members gathered at Liam's for dinner, then went to Don and Cheryl's for an evening of fun and recalling school memories. They were sorry that Carol Flint Hatch of Freeport, who arrived at the Bennetts before the class returned from dinner and left not knowing where her class was. A special get-well card was signed by all classmates for Martha Keniston Bangs, who was unable to attend because of her sudden surgery and hospital confinement.

Visitors at the Earlon Keniston home this week have been Norwood Waterhouse, Mexico, Muriel Kimball of South Paris, and Bonnie and Doug VanDurme of Norway.

Mark Freeman of Panama City, Fla., and Ann Carter Grove, Benicia, Calif. were here for the Gould weekend activities and attended their 45th reunion, Class 1959.

Oxford Hills Duplicate Bridge held a No Bottoms game on Oct. 1. Winners were: Carol Curran and Suzanne Dame Andrews. They received only one zero score for the 27 hands of bridge. In regular scoring the winners were: first, Pete Cummings and Dick Allen; second, Henry Deutsch and Woody Mercier; third,

THE WINNER

This exhibit entitled "Fruits of Our Labor" won first prize for the Pleasant Valley Grange at the Oxford County Fair. The West Bethel Grange bested four other area granges. The display includes produce, canned fruits and vegetables, and craft items. Judging is based on the quality and variety of the items and the aesthetic appeal of the exhibit. The grange has about a dozen active members, and all contributed to the effort. The grangers have since created a new exhibit, currently on display at the Fryeburg Fair.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

The Fryeburg Fair got off to an impressive start on Sunday, with huge crowds taking advantage of a perfect fall day in Maine. The sun shone from a bluebird sky, showing off the beautiful autumn foliage, and the temperature hovered in the 60s and 70s. I checked out the Pleasant Valley Grange exhibit in the Agricultural Hall and learned that they had won a prize for their agricultural exhibit. I know that many hours of planning and work went into its preparation, so congratulations on a job well done.

My first day in the Farm Museum was most enjoyable. I demonstrate spinning on a wheel, carding wool, spinning on a handspindle, and even spinning with a rock and a stick. People ask lots of interesting questions. I especially enjoy talking to the children, who are amazed to find out that not all clothes come from Wal-Mart. We almost had partridge for dinner, as one flew up right in front of me, missing my windshield by a hair, as I drove home on the forest road. On Saturday morning while driving to Fryeburg to set up, I narrowly missed a flock of turkeys on Route 5. Too bad, that would have been yummy.

Jane Hosterman hosted her offspring for the weekend — Rich and Petia Hosterman and Sue Smith. They arrived on Saturday morning for their visit and helped Mom with various household and garden chores around the old homestead. Then on Sunday everyone motorcaded to the fair and enjoyed its attractions for several hours before heading to their respective homes.

Linda Westleigh reports that she attended her 40th class reunion at Gould Academy last weekend. At the Saturday luncheon she met several of her classmates. On Saturday evening a large group met at Liam's for supper and later finished the evening at Donnie and Cheryl Bennett's home in the Park in Bethel. Around twenty people were there for an informal gathering where they had great fun reminiscing and catching up on each other's lives.

Linda also notes that her sister, Donna Gray, continues to improve every day in rehab and hopes to return home soon.

After being dangerously ill in Stephens Memorial Hospital for several days, Joe Gable is convalescing at home. He's doing very well and improving rapidly. We look forward to seeing him again driving his horse and buggy up and down the Flat Road. Get well soon, Joe.

Another abortive hunting excursion took place on Saturday. Son-in-law Ken Griffin and friend Taylor Thompson came up from Boston to go bird hunting with Mike. Taylor managed to snag two woodcock, but Ken and Mike were skunked. Jake was disappointed that he didn't get to retrieve anything for his "daddy."

Hope to hear from more of you with your news in the future. Please call (836-3011) and leave a message if I'm not there, or e-mail to dhoeh@megalink.net. Remember, this column can't exist without news. Have a pleasant week.

Gilead

by Lin Chapman

I had a call Sunday evening from Joe Taylor. He was one of the lucky winners this year for the moose permit drawing. His brother, Ted Taylor, was his sub-permittee. They traveled to Sinclair, Maine, which is way up north. Since they were hoping they would be successful, they took Mike and Dave Taylor, Ted's sons and Eric Kendall, Joe's brother-in-law, to lend a hand. On Tuesday, the second day of the hunt at 6:30 a.m., Joe finally spotted the moose that he had been hoping for. He described it as an 837-pound bull moose with an antler spread of 45 1/2 inches. While Joe was waiting for the rest of the crew to arrive to help him, a second bull moose arrived on the scene. Luckily for Joe, after looking the situation over, the moose decided to leave the scene instead of charging, which could very well have been one of his options. While the group was staying in Sinclair, they stayed at the Waters Edge RV Resort. Joe reports that it is a great place to stay for hunting and fishing and the managers are quite friendly and accommodating to their guests.

On Saturday, Oct. 2, my husband Hugh and I traveled to Ellsworth. We took our daughter-in-law, Carole Chapman, and our grandkids, William and Annie, with us. While we were there, we attended the wedding of Elena Chapman and Jon Martin. It was a beautiful day for an outdoor wedding at the gazebo by the lake. Our grandson, Benjamin Chapman, participated in the wedding by carrying the rings for his mother and Jon. Jon's two sons, Ryan, best man, and Greg, presenter of the wedding vows, were there to stand up with their dad. The family is residing in Ellsworth and Elena and Jon plan on taking a cruise later on this year.

There is a new sign at the Evans Notch Lodge. Joe Boudreau, who manages the lodge and motel, has been working on the project.

Also, the Town Hall has a new addition to it. Hugh Chapman made a new bulletin board for the front so notices can be posted of upcoming town-related business meetings that the residents should know about. There will be notices posted regarding the selectmen's meetings, planning board meetings, regular and special Town Meetings

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

When my children were young their father and I imposed certain rules and restrictions on them and the children were expected to abide by them or face the consequences if they didn't.

We were not strict parents by any means, but there were certain expectations of behavior that were clearly stated to the youngsters starting very early in their lives. Naturally, they pushed the boundaries as all children do and they were punished accordingly.

All the books on child rearing emphasize that children, not only need, but want clearly defined rules. I had my doubts that my children actually wanted clearly defined rules, but they had to live with them anyway.

Now that they are adults with children of their own I am delighted to see that they have carried the same rules they were raised with and have imposed them on their own little ones.

I chuckle to myself when I think of all the times I heard, "When I have kids of my own I'll never make them do that!" Now I observe just how many times they make them do exactly that. I guess that's some confirmation that as parents their father and I were on the right track.

But, here's the weird part; I have no such compunction to impose most of the same rules on my grandchildren when they are in my home. And don't think that my children haven't noticed that their children get away with things that would have banished them to their rooms in a hurry.

Take television viewing for example; my children were restricted to a certain period of time per day that they were allowed to watch their favorite shows. And this was only permitted after homework and chores were done. They often whined about the unfairness, but with the exception of some special circumstances, they were reminded that rules were rules for a reason.

When my grandsons come to visit they immediately take possession of the remote control and plant themselves in front of the T.V. Other than to monitor what they're watching to make sure they're not being exposed to sex and violence, their grandfather and I watch things like "Rug Rats" right along with them.

Something very strange happens when your children have children.

"I can't believe you let them watch that stuff. It is so stupid. You never would have let me watch anything that dumb when I was little!" It's very strange to be admonished by your children for such things.

Snacks are another thing that seems to set my children on edge a bit. I keep one shelf in my cupboard reserved for goodies that I buy for the grandkids. They can usually count on a pretty good supply of snack crackers, fruit chews, cookies and cupcakes. I try to be sensitive to their dental health and avoid most candy except for special occasions.

"I can't believe you let them eat that and they haven't even had supper yet! You never let us eat anything like that until we had cleaned our plates!"

I guess I see things a little differently as a grandmother and don't see why they can't just have supper for dessert.

When the grandchildren spend the night at my house bedtime seems to be another bone of contention with their parents. The little ones always look like they are having such a good time I just don't have the heart to pull the plug on their fun.

"I can't believe you let the kids stay up so late! You never let us do that and you always gave us a speech on the importance of a good night's sleep. What on earth has gotten into you?"

Being a grandparent, that's what has gotten into me. Something very strange happens when your children have children. The first time you hold that grandbaby in your arms you become soft as a grape. This is your legacy and may very well be the last link that will remember you years down the road.

Many years from now when my great-grandchildren come across a picture of me in an old photo album and ask who that funny old lady is, I want my grandchildren to say, "Oh, that was my grandmother. I wish you could have known her, she was a really cool lady."

But it's not just creating lasting memories of indulging my grandchildren that makes me get the way I do with them. It's because they are so special. They are the culmination of all the hopes and dreams I had for my children. A small part of me and my children will live on through them and into future generations to come.

Spoil my grandchildren; you bet I do. And so do many other grandparents or there wouldn't be any reason for little tee shirts that say "When the going gets tough call 1-800-GRANDMA."

The other day after I had taken my grandsons to the store and let them have their way in the toy department my daughter said, "Someday when I become a grandmother I'm not going to indulge my grandchildren the way you do."

Well, the way I see it, she will indulge her grandchildren the same way because it is a grandparent rule and after all, I did raise her to abide by all the rules.

Steve McLain received a call from his son Joey in Bozeman, Mont., and also from his other son, Capt. Stephen McLain at Ft. Sill, Okla. Joey is enjoying his time in Montana and, even though he is working full-time, he still finds time to pursue his love for hiking. Stephen has recently completed specialized training in his field, and he and his family are doing well.

Just a reminder that the Gilead Bicentennial Committee's final event of the year is the Potluck Supper at the Town Hall on Oct. 16 at 5 p.m. Bring a hot dish, salad or dessert and join your friends and neighbors for a fun evening in the old Town Hall.

Our most beautiful season is here in all its multi-colored glory. The mornings are nippy cold. Frost covers are now a necessity to protect the tomatoes, which this year are ripening on the vine. The colorful trees around the lake give a mirror image in the dark water. The camps are in use by many folks who love it here in God's own country.

Fishing season has closed for this year but bird season is open for hunting. Isolated shots echo across the lake. Buster Williamson met up with a plump partridge in front of my home. His gun was at home. Lucky bird. Partridge are great on the wing or in the pot. Bird loving presents in many forms.

Bob Folsom bagged a large female moose somewhere around Millinocket. Congratulations, Bob.

Larry and Sue Nelson traveled to Jackman to scout the area for moose. Larry's name was drawn in the Moose Lottery. His brother Terry will come up from Tennessee to be his partner in the hunt for the perfect beast. Good luck to both of them. I hope they will have strong backs. They will need them.

Walter and Liz Stanczyk traveled to Baton Rouge, La., for a ship's reunion. On the return trip they had to change planes in Nashville. Phil Learned, the well-known chef at the Balsams was attending a seminar in that city and amazingly enough the Stanczyks met up with Phil in the airport as he was returning home. Liz was also a longtime employee of the Balsams. A small world, isn't it?

Paul Casey is defying gravity as he works on building his new garage.

Al Gagnon has a secret meditation spot on his property. It is well shaded and out of the wind. A truly beautiful spot with a magnificent view. No field glasses are needed to see the distant mountains in their fall finery. Saddleback Mountain is clearly visible. As he was meditating on Monday a flock of geese in "V" formation passed at eye level.

Thank you to Roger Lavalley for the fine job of repairing the Ladies Aid driveway. Last week, only three members were present for the weekly craft session. Simonne Lavalley never fails to bring us a new "doodad" to work on. Most of the articles relate to the Christmas Party.

Lake levels are disgustingly low, as the Androscoggin River flows freely. Boats have become mired in the mud overnight. Our dock is high and dry, tipped up over a rock that was formerly three feet below the surface. Florida Light and Power is no friend to people using the lake. Hidden rocks loom beneath the water uplake making it a dangerous situation.

Although there are many visitors in town, the only ones contacting me were at Birch Point.

Clyde and Barbara Stratton have been visited by Bill and Lee Anne Ruppy, son and daughter in law, and Marjorie Farber, Lee Anne's grandmother. All are from Longmont, Colo. Recently, their son Matt, daughter-in-law Lisa Stratton and granddaughter Kristen spent time enjoying the area.

Birds of the week are the partridge and the woodcock, two wonderful game birds.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to Aldro French, who resides at Forest Lodge on Rapid River, the former home of Louise Dickinson Rich.

Oct. 1, 2 and 3 were Reunion Days at Gould Academy. The 50-year class had about 30 people who attended.

Debbie Eldredge of Unity visited with Rudi and Barbara Honkala over the weekend of Oct. 1-3. She and Millie Jackson attended their 60-year reunion at Gould and had a good time.

On Oct. 1, Millie Jackson went to Stephens Memorial Hospital to find out why she was hurting; it was a pinched nerve in the shoulder area.

Esther Wilson, Jackie Libby and Grace Gibson took Aspen, a child they were babysitting, to Fryeburg Fair on Oct. 3. They went through the animal barns and had a grand time looking at all the cows, pigs, chickens and all the other animals.

King and Dee Craft of Brewster, Mass., visited with Jack and Lucy Nordahl, returning home on Oct. 3. Lucy has been planting bulbs since they left.

Arlene Harrington visited Dori Hallman and family Sept. 24 to 27.

Charlene Haines was taken to St. Mary's Hospital on Oct. 3 and most likely will be home by the time you read this.

Pat Carter's letter to the editor last week said it all. I am so tired of "I approve this message," I could croak. Enough.

Alder River Grange will have a meeting on Oct. 8 at the hall with a 6:30 p.m. potluck supper and the meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Enjoy this lovely weather and have a nice week. God Bless the Troops.

Andover

by Joan Stinson-Carney

My condolences to the friends and family of Andover resident Harold Glover, who passed away last week.

The officers of the Andover Educational Fund, Inc. have announced the names of the Andover students attending college and being helped by the fund. Class of 2002: Evan Lincoln, University of N.W. Ohio; Erika Davis, University of Maine, Orono; Michael Sabin, University of Southern Maine, Portland; Benjamin Sabin, Occidental College, Los Angeles, Calif.; Melissa Bailey, University of Maine, Augusta/Mexico. Class of 2001: Lynsey Brown, Mt. Ida College, Newton, Mass.; Darin Morse, Northeastern University, Boston, Mass.; Denise Scotti, Rutgers University, Camden, N.J.; and Eric Swasey, University of Southern Maine, Portland. In a town with a population of less than a thousand, 120 post-secondary students have been helped by the fund since its inception in 1987 when the officers of the Andover Alumni Association and Robert Spidell met to create the fund. Larger scholarships include the John and Eunice Fox scholarship, the Sweatt Family Memorial Award (recently, a member of the Sweatt family donated additional funds, 75 percent is used for scholarships), The Anna Thurston Memorial Scholarship, and the Andover Friday Club Book Awards. Twenty adults have taken advantage of the Andover Educational Adult Education Fund, and the SAD44 Adult Education services of the University of Maine in Mexico. This is an organization the whole town can be proud of and any and all donations are gratefully accepted. FMI you can call Sharon Hutchins at 392-4351.

The Andover Service Circle has moved their meetings from the library to Andrea Savitz's house. Meeting times remain the same. The Andover Service Circle is always welcoming new members. Upcoming projects include the delivery of the 2005 ASC Community Calendar and the planning of the holiday dinner in early December for Andover's senior population.

The Rabies Clinic will be held on Saturday, Nov. 13, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Andover Fire Station. Cost per shot: $10.

The Flu Clinic will be held on Friday, Nov. 19, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Andover Town Hall. The Bethel Family Health Center is in charge of this. I will give you the price for the shots when I get it.

The following are a few funny items sent to me by a friend. I don't know if they were giving me a hint, but I sure can identify with some of them. Subject: Senility: The nice thing about being senile is that you can hide your own Easter Eggs. Reporters asked a 104-year-old woman what she thought the nice thing was about being 104. She replied, "no peer pressure." An elderly woman decided to prepare her will. She had two final requests: she wanted to be cremated and have her ashes scattered over Wal-Mart. Why Wal-Mart she was asked. "Then I'll be sure that my daughters will visit me twice a week." See ya.

Mason

by Richard Grover

Last week brought several welcome visitors to our fair corner of the universe. Big sister's grandson, Scott Thayer and his wife Susan, spent a few days with "Gram." They came for the fall foliage and the marriage in their extended family on Cape Cod. While here, Susan was hoping for a close-up moose viewing, so they spent a day driving through Berlin, N.H., the 13 Mile Woods to Errol and back through Upton, Grafton Notch and Newry. No moose. After returning to "Gram's," Scott left the ladies and made a trip to Bethel's Finest for some grapefruit ice cream, which he can't find in Chicago. Of course, on the way to West Bethel, Scott saw the biggest bull moose he'd ever seen. Susan was not impressed.

While Scott and Susan went to Acadia National Park for a few days, Verna was visited by Scott's mom, Nancy and her mother, Betty Miller. They were also here for some fall foliage and a little penny ante poker for Betty. She gets a kick out of some of the oddball games they play at Rupert and Ina's, like "West Bethel Special," "deuces and jacks" and the "man with the axe but a pair of natural sevens takes the pot," along with a few other family favorites.

We were also blessed with a visit by my niece, Lee Ann Grover Pippenger, who now resides in Orofino, Idaho. Lee was here for her 45th year class reunion of her Gould Academy Class of '59. We thoroughly enjoyed the family fellowship with Lee and our other Mason area "family." Lee also had the opportunity to spend some time with her brother Lawrence's family.

We have also enjoyed having Lawrence and Jenn Grover back in Mason. They have built an addition on their old house by the river and are busy finishing the exterior while still working full-time elsewhere. I love the new siding they are putting up; I think it's called simulated pine logs.

Hello and greetings from Albany Township. Fall is here: bright, sunny skies with a cool breeze...just lovely. We hope that everyone has brought in their fragile plants, etc., as frost time is here. Apple orchards are open for picking, veggies are just about all ready to be picked that final time, baking season is here. We have noticed that the Barton's Farm stand has an abundance of pumpkins and other veggies. The pumpkins look gorgeous, and the last time through we noticed quite a few very nice pie pumpkins. The leaves are turning brilliant colors (thanks in large part to the rain of this past summer), and we've seen leaf peepers out with their cameras taking pictures of the gorgeous panoramic views we have here in Albany.

We haven't heard that there's much going on in the Township recently, other than the bike treks from a couple of weekends ago. Unfortunately, there are still signs up around Vernon Street and Hunt's Corner from those treks (the organizers did not pick up their signs). Too bad that "guests" to our lovely township didn't think enough of our area to pick up their signs once their events were done. Oh...enough complaining.

We hope that everyone has a great week and weekend. God Bless and Keep.

Locke Mills

by Lorraine Larson

First of all, I want to offer the town's sincerest sympathy to the family of Harry Swan, Jr., who died on Sunday, Sept. 25. He fought a good fight with his cancer, but cancer seems too often to win out in the long run. Harry and Margery were citizens so long in this town that it has not been quite the same since they moved to the South Paris area, but they are still heart related, so to speak, and we all feel a great sense of loss. We pray strength and peace for Margie and the rest of his family.

It doesn't seem possible that the leaves have started to turn and fall has arrived. I don't know about anyone else but I feel as if summer got short-changed this year and was bypassed by some other season whose name I do not know. Seeing what folks are going through in Florida this year I really shouldn't be griping, but we have long enough winters without summer being quite so cool. I do not particularly like 90s, but we hardly got an 80 this year.

I am sure I am not alone in being thankful that the elections are not far off. I don't wish time away, it goes fast enough as it is; but, I am being bombarded, as I am sure a lot of you are, with letters, appeals for help (all predicting dire consequences if you don't respond immediately), innuendoes, and other appeals, such as "would you be a voter registration coordinator for your area" type of thing. My personal opinion is that most people in the Greenwood area are above average in intelligence and abilities and they probably are registered already and, if not, are perfectly capable of doing so on their own. I also figure that most of us have pretty definite opinions as to who we want or don't want, already; but, as I tried to point out to someone, the reason we have secret ballots is so, if we choose, we can keep our opinions to our selves, and I am not obligated to tell him or anyone else who I plan to vote for. Somehow, in this age of information highway, the concept of keeping one's opinions to oneself seems to be a foreign one. I must admit that I have a lot of opinions on a lot of things that I probably too freely share but politics is one area I try to steer clear of. I am not too happy with the name calling that has been going on right here in our town, to say nothing of national candidates who do not seem to get the message that people do not like the negative campaigning. Enough already.

I forgot to mention that the people of Praise Assembly of God in Rumford Center are very pleased with the piano that Arnold and Pearl Jordan gave to the church. I was very nice of them.

Debbie Brown took the day off from her shop, Thursday, to take her mother to two doctor's appointments in Portland. Unfortunately, one was in the morning and one in the late afternoon, so she put her mother in a wheelchair and toured the Mall between appointments. I am not sure just who was more exhausted by the end of the day.

I finally had to get off the Internet for a while so we can get this computer clean of whatever it is that is possessing it. I miss having it to send out my news particularly and am not happy having to go to Bethel to turn it in, as I have been spoiled; but, I do not want someone else to get infected with whatever this thing has got because it spoils any enjoyment one has in having a computer. My cousin, Frank, says it sounds as if it has a worm, which is hard to get rid of. Anyhow, it downloads stuff I don't want and I can't stop it, and when I want something I get bombarded with ads I cannot get rid of, as the computer does not respond to closing them down. Half the time it doesn't respond to the "shut down" on the menu and I have to resort to shutting off the power, which causes all kinds of problems when I want to start it up again. Ralph did do some work on it that helped it, but it didn't do enough to

GET ME TO THE CHURCH ON TIME

Dick Douglass and his team of Hefflingers, Nick and Ned (ages 6 and 8), are sometimes called upon to participate in important occasions. In this case, they transported bride and groom Marcy Lavallee and Phillip Arnold at their recent wedding. Douglass, who lives in Bethel, said he rents the carriage for such events.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Hi readers. I missed you last week. Sorry. No excuse, just a day off.

Aren't these the glorious days, and the leaves are starting to turn pretty colors. When you read this, it will be Oct. 7 already. Fall is the prettiest time of year and cool weather.

Judith Fisha from Corvallis, Ore., has been visiting her sister, Mary Andrews, for a few days, enjoying the nice Maine weather, and she likes this area very much.

Earl Files' wife Shirley from Florida passed away recently. Our sympathy and prayers go out to her family and friends. Earl is a brother to Brenda Files and used to live here in East Stoneham.

Well, I did something new last week. I went to the new "Save a Lot" store in South Paris. I didn't get much but what I did get were good bargains, which does save a lot. It was a nice, clean store and I'm sure gets a lot of customers. I have heard many good reports on it.

Another good place is the Springer store and restaurant at East Waterford. They make real good ham italians and much more. Their lobsters are good, too.

On Sept. 21, Albert turned over another year. Dale and Kitty Nelson and Albert J. and Troy Nelson came to the spaghetti and meatballs and cake and ice-cream supper to help him celebrate. Dale, I'm still eating leftover spaghetti. It was a nice evening and he got lots of gifts from the kids and his sister.

He had to go to the doctor the very next day, but just for a checkup. He got a good report. Thursday morning, he saw a great big moose cross the road out front of the house and it went off into the woods between our house and Genie's.

Wednesday night, there were three meetings that I should attend. What to do. Well I went to the church meeting and there were four of us, and then I went across the road to the K of P hall to the D.U.V. meeting and there were only four of us there. Sorry, Derek, I didn't make it to the planning board meeting, but guess you can do ok without me. Tonight is Lions meeting (if I get this column written and off in the mail).

OK people, the last Stoneham public supper is coming up and it is a good one, the Harvest Supper, which is Oct. 14 here at the East Stoneham Church.

There will be corned beef and cabbage and all the good veggies, and pies and coffee, punch, etc. It will be 5 to 6:30 p.m. and the price is $7 for adults and $3.50 for children. See you there?

Don't forget North Waterford Friendly Senior Citizens: the October meeting is Oct. 13 to meet at the North Waterford Church vestry at 10 a.m., and leave at 10:30 a.m. to go to Teena's in Rumford for lunch. The reservations are already made. See you there.

West Paris

The good weather held out for the weekend. Hopefully, it lasts all week for Fryeburg Fair.

At the West Paris Universalist Church on Sunday, Oct. 10, the Rev. Joy Gasta will speak on "Columbus Day and Our Religious Principals." Jim Burke is organist.

Ruth Hazelton has sold her house and is residing at Mountain View Apartments. We are glad to have her remain in West Paris.

The third annual Woodstock PTA Craft Fair will be held at the Woodstock School Oct. 23 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tables are available for $10. There will be crafts, a Chinese auction and food sale. Contact Missy Wakefield at 665-2211.

The Woodstock fifth grade will go to Boston in the spring and will have a Hunter's Breakfast on Nov. 3 at the Locke Mills Legion hall from 4 to 10 a.m. to raise money. The cost is $5.

Beryl Bonney and I were at her camp on South Pond on Friday and enjoyed a picnic lunch overlooking the calm water reflecting the colored foliage. So peaceful and quiet.

Martha Day is at Market Square Nursing Home for rehabilitation. She would love to hear from her many friends.

All is well with Buffy. Some days he limps some but does get around well outside and in. Maybe the weather affects him as it sometimes does with us humans.

Greenwood City

Another week has gone by and September will be over before this is printed.

Our condolences go to the family of Harry Swan Jr. He was one of the selectmen a few years ago.

Brad and Ann Payne were up to Moosehead last weekend. They stopped at Rockwood. They went up to North East Carey with their boat, also to Sebonic, then down to Spencer Bay. They went to Kelly's Landing at Greenville for supper.

Monday, Ann Holt was at Augusta.

Albert Sr. and Marie Curtis have been on vacation and now are both back working. Marie spent a lot of her time going to the hospital to see her father, Thomas Bragg of Sumner, who had open-heart surgery but is doing well.

Albert Sr. and Marie Curtis took their boat down to Norway Lake one day.

Everyone: Remember the Special Town Meeting Oct. 14 at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall. It is on the recall of one of the selectmen.

My grandson, Albert Curtis Jr. and boys visited me over the weekend.

My son Kenneth of Kentucky called me and said his son Mark was home for a few days. Mark is in the service at Oklahoma and has three more years to go then he will have his 20 years in so he can retire.

Julie Curtis is picking apples at Cooper's orchards.

Good advice from an old carpenter: "Measure twice and saw once."

That's it for this week. Have a safe and happy week and enjoy the fall weather.

Hanover

Did you ever get something new that you really liked and you wanted to keep it perfect forever and then soon afterward a mishap occurred and even though it was repaired to just like new it just wasn't the same? That is the way Hanover folks felt Wednesday morning when they went to Hanover Post Office that has only been open for one month. During the night a truck had backed into the driveway and knocked over one of the light poles leaving it laying on the ground shining aimlessly off into space. The State Police are investigating the hit-and-run incident.

Jennie Bartlett is hospitalized in a Portland hospital. We hope she is soon better and returns home.

Med-Care Ambulance and Rumford Fire Department Rescue hurried to South Shore Road last week to assist Marjorie Hanawalt who had fallen. She was admitted to Rumford Hospital and hopefully she is feeling better.

The Hanover Town Office will be closed on Monday, Oct. 13 in observance of Columbus Day and on Tuesday, Oct. 19 to allow staff to attend a Motor Vehicle Workshop in West Paris.

The Hanover Selectboard has again rescheduled the annual Town Meeting to Oct. 26 at 6 p.m. at the Town House on the Howard Pond Road. The meeting will consist of election of officers, Town budget matters and the school budget.

At their Sept. 28 Board meeting, the Selectboard voted unanimously to take a stand against Question 1. The Citizens Initiative is on the ballot for the November Referendum Election and is a tax cap proposal. Members of the board stated that they realize there is a problem with high taxes but suggest that a frugal approach would provide better local control.

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War are sponsoring "Operation Desert Stocking II," to provide Christmas stockings to U.S. Troops stationed in Saudi Arabia. This year it will include the National Guard 133rd Engineer Battalion from Maine. There will be a collection box at the Hanover Town Office to assist in the effort. Items may be dropped off for pickup between Oct. 7 and Oct. 17. Last year, 225 stockings were sent and this year there is a need for 500 to 600 stockings for all the members of the 133rd. Many small items are needed. Call the Town Office for suggestions.

Weather in a word: BRRR! It is chilly in the mornings but often warm and sunny in the afternoons. Kevin Maddox has been too wrong lately, though. Saturday was predicted to be warm and sunny. It was chilly and rainy all day. I prefer knowing when I need to be prepared for rain and wet. I don't like surprises. Never did like them, I guess. Am addicted to the predictable.

The biggest news around lately seems to be the elections. It gets worse every year with each candidate slinging mud at the others. I do not think that is a good example for young people whom we try to teach to tell the truth. How can one say that it is okay to lie and cheat in campaigns but not in other parts of life? It is no wonder that young people lie with such ease. To them it is not something bad, but a way of life.

The Waterford Library Association continues their book discussions. The next one will be on Wednesday, Oct. 27 at 10:30 a.m. The group will be discussing "Kite Runner" by Khaled Hosseini. In November they will discuss "The Big House" by George Colt. That will be on Nov. 17. All are welcome to participate.

If anyone has a waste oil burner and would like some oil — tested with a "sniffer" to insure that it is not mixed — please see me at the transfer station or call me at 744-5675 or 743-0583. We have two barrels that we will give away. Our usual taker has enough for now and we do not like to accumulate too much.

Neighbors have noticed the presence of skunks at their houses, too. Taking in Tasha's food seems to help, but I just hope she doesn't get the midnight munchies. I would not think kindly about bringing her food at that hour. She has been rather quiet lately, except for one night this week. After I told her to be quiet she was, but that was probably a coincidence.

I hope everyone is enjoying the Fryeburg Fair this week. We haven't gone, yet, but I hope we will on Friday, my next day off. Neither of us really wanted to go on Monday. Maybe it just isn't the same, as we get older. I have heard few say they were going/had gone. I expect I will hear it soon. The crowds are what seem to be deterring most people, that and the cost of everything. I haven't been in quite a few years and would like to go. We shall see.

That is all for this week. Stay warm and have a great week.

Thought for the week: "To be a friend a man should close his eyes to the faults of others and open them to his own."

Call to Worship was held at the Newry Community Church Sunday morning, Sept. 2 at 9 a.m., with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. Thought of the Day by Sue Wight: "Praise is the overflow of a joyful heart." Scripture readings by the faithfuls. The Message of the Day was: "The Gross Sin Of Our Times," from 1st Timothy 6:10, "For the love of money is the root of all evil; which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows." A prayer followed, Hymn 280, benediction and postlude. Amen.

Karlene Bachelder and her sister Wilma (who is here from Unity) and I went to the Northland Restaurant for a great feast one day recently.

Jordan Berry celebrated her first birthday at a party attended by family and friends from Bethel, Newry, Pownal, West Paris and Connecticut. She wore a pink dress and had a pink birthday cake with her picture on it. A cookout was enjoyed and the children had fun pinning the tail on the donkey and breaking a piñata. Jason Berry's birthday, which was on Sept. 14, was celebrated at the same time.

Woodstock Memorial Library will be featuring Ed Howe on Thursday, Oct. 14, at 10 a.m. The program will be on a trip to Alaska including a visit to a working gold mine. The program is open to the public and there is no charge.

What beautiful weather, every day seems better than the last one. We had a slight frost one morning recently, the first one so far.

I called my sister, Dotte Critser in Tempe, Ariz., to wish her a happy birthday. Every one in her family is doing fine. She reported it was about 90 degrees there.

Pat Springer has a new job driving school bus full-time for the district.

I watch the Scott Peterson murder case faithfully every day on the court channel. Very interesting.

Happy birthday to those celebrating in October: Dustin Tilley, Aaron Bean, Linsey Record, Rosalie Poland, Karon Wing, Laurie Cox, Roger Wilday, Jeannie Grover, Virginia Mason, Jerrold Mason, Lisa Ryerson, Matthew Ryerson, Chad Ryerson, Rhonda Yap, Benjamin Yap, Brandon Yap, Chris Canulli, Don Mason Jr., Darren Brown. Anniversaries celebrated this month are: Jim and Evelyn Dunn, Robert and Margie Gleason, Bruce and Donna Danforth. Best wishes to you all.

I'm heading for the post office to mail this news. I think our tax bill will be here today.

Quote of the week: "I've learned that the war in Iraq makes all our troubles here seem trivial."

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society, reports that at the annual meeting Mary Billings was elected president. Larry is once again curator and Olive Risko is chairman of the Board of Trustees. This will be the 25th year for Larry as curator, since he was president of the society its first year of existence. He also signed up to do the program for November, the society's actual 25th anniversary.

From the

Oxford County Republicans

Republican candidates for Northern Oxford County were on hand at the River Valley Expo in Rumford on Sept. 24 and 25. Local businesspeople and visitors were able to stop by and discuss business issues with the candidates, and gain a broad perspective on how laws passed in Augusta really affect businesses in Maine.

Robert Cameron, candidate for Maine Senate District 14, joined up with Randy Hotham, House District 93, Paula Smith, House District 92, Arlan Jodrey, House District 91, and Dave Duguay, County Commissioner, to educate people on business issues.

All Republican candidates bringing a realistic perspective to the business climate in Maine, and realize the implications of a negative business climate in the state. These candidates have proved their willingness to promote a business-friendly environment in Maine, this fact being shown by the Maine Economic Research Institute ratings for political candidates.

The Maine Economic Research Institute is a nonpartisan group that rates Maine House and Senate members and candidates on their vote on certain bills related to businesses. Ratings for all candidates are available at www.fixmaine.com.

From

Oxford County Democrats

Oxford County hosted seven parties as part of Congressman Mike Michaud's Night of 100 Houseparties on Sunday, Sept. 26, with a total of more than 100 attending.

Parties were hosted by Jan Kubiak in Albany, Lynn Baker in Waterford, Miriam Laster in Norway, Jim and Rosemary McLean in Greenwood, Cynthia Willets in Brownfield, Alan Whittemore in Fryeburg, and Anita Pottle and Lee Holman in Hartford.

Previous houseparties, on Sept. 4 and 19, were hosted in Rumford by Joe and Pat Sirois and John Patrick, and in Porter by Charlotte Fullam and Doug Bowen. The total of 10 parties in Oxford County met the goal established by the County Committee and was much appreciated by the Michaud campaign.

Sen. Bruce Bryant has returned from the Council of State Governments Conference for Legislative Leaders and is back on the campaign trail. The Oxford County Democrats congratulate Bryant for his selection to attend this important event that emphasized environmental, economic development and energy issues.

Marge Medd, candidate for Senate in District 13, and Margaret Reimer, House candidate in District 98, were the guests of honor at the opening of the Bridgton office on Oct. 1, sponsored by the Lake Regions Democratic Caucus, the Bridgton Democrats and the Cumberland and Oxford County committees. Several Debate Watching Parties were held on Sept. 30, including one at the Norway Field Office.

Oxford Hills area candidates participated in the Oxford Hills Chamber candidate Forum on Sept. 30. In concluding remarks, candidates were asked to identify the personal qualities that made them the best candidate. Marge Medd identifies her reputation for hard work and persistence, Roy Gedat highlighted his ability to get things done and the fact that he was not a professional politician, Terry Hayes identified her ability to craft solutions to complex problems in a collaborative way, Kathleen Dougherty cited her commitment to representing her district and bringing a young person's perspective to the Legislature, Margaret Reimer quipped that she "plays well with others" and Sen. Beth Edmunds, representing Bryant, described him as a hardworking, honest man of integrity.

The Oxford County Committee's Candidate Tabloid with pictures and profiles of the candidates for office is available in the field offices in Norway, Bethel, Bridgton, and Mexico. The publication provides background information on the candidates and information on the activities of the Oxford County Democrats. Copies will also be available at the Fryeburg Fair booth, which will be open throughout the fair. The booth is fully staffed and stocked with Kerry Edwards' materials and information on local candidates.

Last Trip to Canada
The Last Trip to Canada is the new name for the RxExpress set for Oct. 13 and 14 and co-sponsored by the Oxford County Democratic House and Senate candidates and the Maine Council of Senior Citizens. "With the announcement of Gov. Baldacci's new initiative, Rural Rx, involving re-importation of Canadian prescription drugs, Maine's seniors and others will soon be able to access lower-priced prescriptions from their local pharmacies," Sen. Bruce Bryant stated on behalf of the Oxford County Democratic candidates. Candidates supporting the trip, in addition to Bryant, include Rep. John Patrick, House candidates Roy Gedat, Terry Hayes, Linda Petrie, Tim Carter, Kathleen Dougherty, Margaret Reimer, Marlee Turner, and Senate candidate Marge Medd.

Neena Quirion of the Maine Council of Senior Citizens heralded the new initiative that will bring an end to the five years of bus trips to Canada to call attention to the issue of high-cost prescriptions and the effect on individual budgets. The October trip will be filmed for a documentary film and also covered by a press team from France, as well as local media. It is expected that individuals participating in the Last Trip to Canada will save more than half the cost of their prescriptions if filled in the U.S.

There are spaces remaining on the bus. Anyone interested in participating may call Oxford County Chair Cathy Newell, 875-2116, or the Maine Council of Senior Citizens at (800) 452-8794.

AFL-CIO Award
The Maine AFL-CIO has honored Sen. Bruce Bryant of Dixfield with the prestigious Edie Beaulieu award for Outstanding Service to Maine Workers.

Bryant is a member of PACE Local 900 in Rumford and its former president. He is former co-chair of the Labor Caucus in the Maine Legislature and is currently a member of the Maine AFL-CIO Executive Board.

Maine AFL-CIO President Edward Gorham said Bryant "has over a period of years given outstanding service not only to the residents of Senate District 24 but also to workers and working families throughout Maine. He has sponsored, voted and worked for legislation that helps workers in a wide variety of areas such as expanding unemployment compensation benefits in order to provide fair treatment and justice for injured workers, increasing the minimum wage to assure that workers get a fair day's pay for a fair day's work, and increasing health coverage for all Maine citizens."

Gorham added that, in addition to fulfilling his legislative duties, Bryant has personally spent many hours helping workers deal with the various government agencies, particularly injured workers presenting their cases to the Workers' Compensation System.

"Over several decades we have awarded the Edie Beaulieu Award to hardworking and dedicated legislators who have provided outstanding service to their constituents, to workers and to the people of Maine," said Gorham, "but no one has ever been more deserving of this award than Sen. Bryant. He understands the issues in detail and he spares no time or effort to use his experience and knowledge to help those who need help, whether it be with his vote, his long hours of committee work, or his personal assistance to individuals."

Bryant is chair of the Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry Committee and chair of the Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Committee. He served three two-year terms in the Maine House of Representatives and is currently completing his first two-year term in the Maine State Senate.

The Maine Senate was reapportioned in 2003 and Bryant is currently seeking election to the new Senate District 14 which includes: Jay, in Franklin County, and in Oxford County includes Andover, Bethel, Buckfield, Byron, Canton, Dixfield, Gilead, Greenwood, Hanover, Hartford, Hebron, Lincoln Plantation, Lovell, Magalloway Plantation, Mexico, Milton Township, Newry, North Oxford, Peru, Roxbury, Rumford, South Oxford Township, Stoneham, Stow, Sumner, Sweden, Upton, Waterford, West Paris, Woodstock. Many of these places are also included in the Senate District Bryant currently represents.

From the U.M. Cooperative. Extension

The unique challenges of living in a stepfamily is the topic of a workshop series being offered by the University of Maine Cooperative Extension in Oxford County.

"Although a stepfamily may look like a traditional family with parents and children, the actual differences between step and traditional families are striking," explains Wendy Legg Pollock, extension educator and leader of the workshop. "Anyone living in a stepfamily knows how challenging and confusing stepfamily life can be, yet they may be blaming themselves or thinking something is 'wrong' with their family rather than realizing how typical these struggles are for most stepfamilies. A valuable feature of the series is the support participants receive from each other as they learn more about these common struggles and ways of dealing with them," Pollock concludes.

"Building Strong Stepfamilies" is a five-part discussion series focusing on: recognizing unrealistic expectations, adjusting to new family members and dynamics, resolving conflicts, and communicating effectively with all players. The series will be held on Monday evenings from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Oct. 25, Nov. 1, 8, 15, and 22 at the Extension Office on Olson Road, South Paris. There is no cost to participate, but participants must register by Oct. 20. For more information or to register for the series, call the Extension Office at 743-6329 or (800) 287-1482.

Clubs can be as small as four members and meet as few as eight times per year as they are growing. Members can make individual choices as to the projects or subjects they wish to learn about.

Volunteers and members are not required to pay dues at the county, regional, state or national level. Local clubs can set dues to cover supplies or opt to hold a fundraiser. Volunteers are offered training, resources and ongoing support as they build their clubs. 4-H clubs can be project specific or general in nature, but designed with certain age appropriate activities. Kids & Money

"Dealing with issues around money with your children is a tough job," says Pollock, Extension educator and leader of the workshop, "Kids & Money." "However, it's also a critical one! Too often parents leave any lessons about money management to chance, yet how you handle money related issues with your children can impact your relationship with them, their self-esteem, and their approach to managing money throughout their lives."

"Parents often wonder what to do about an allowance with their kids," Pollock continues. Is an allowance a good idea? How much should an allowance be? Should we pay for household chores?"

Parents and other caregivers of children are invited to attend Kids & Money for a lively discussion around these and other questions relating to how to handle money with kids.

Kids & Money will be held on Friday, Oct. 22, from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon at the Extension Office on Olson Road, South Paris. The workshop is open to the public, free of charge. Registration is required by Oct. 18.

From the

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

The chamber has a few upcoming events that we'd like to remind everyone about.

Wednesday, Oct. 20, at the Sudbury Inn, from 7:30 to 9 a.m., the monthly Community Networking Breakfast will feature a discussion on the upcoming tax cap referendum. We have invited the area town leaders to speak candidly on how the tax cap, if passed as drafted, would likely affect our towns and schools. We are also inviting someone from the "Tax-Cap Yes" coalition to speak on the merits of the referendum. This should be very informative. An RSVP is required by Tuesday, Oct. 19, to 824-2282 and a $5 breakfast will be served.

Thursday, Oct. 20, from 5 to 7 p.m., is our monthly Business after Hours, to be held at Winter Journeys in Lovell. Liz and Andy invite everyone to come meet their wonderful sled dogs and learn what Winter Journeys has to offer our visitors and members. All are welcomed and you may call us at the office (824-2282) if you are interested in carpooling.

On Thursday, Oct. 28, the chamber will hold our annual Business Meeting and dinner at the Bethel Inn and Country Club. The social hour begins at 5 p.m. and is sponsored by Oxford Networks. A delicious dinner will be served at 6 p.m. and will feature a choice of three menu items: lemon pepper chicken, poached salmon and sole roulade and top sirloin charbroiled with garlic butter. The cost is $25 per person and we need an RSVP by Monday, Oct. 18. At this meeting we will be electing our 2005 Board of Directors and recognizing the contributions of our outgoing board members. This will be a great evening of fellowship and celebration...please be a part of it.

Our annual Guidebook has just gone off to the printers, with the hope of having the 60,000 copies delivered on or about Nov. 1. Many thanks to all our members for their support of this project and to photographers M. Dirk MacKnight, Carol Savage, Scott Perry, and Nick Lambert for their contributions to this lovely piece. Sonja Dearden, formerly of Bethel and now living in Hampton, N.H., should be recognized for her graphic design talent.

Members are reminded that we will be finalizing the Winter Map and Guide over the next two weeks. Everyone should have received an e-mail about this last week, but please call us with any questions or if you missed the communication.

See you at the Fall Festival and North American Wife Carrying Championships at Sunday River Ski Resort this weekend. Remember to stop at the Sunday River Inn to take a hot-air balloon tether ride, compliments of RE/MAX in the Mountains. Proceeds will go to the Mahosuc Land Trust. For a full schedule of events this weekend, go to either www.bethelmaine.com or www.sundayriver.com.

From the

Whitman

Memorial Library

If you weren't at the library last month for the program on Elms Puzzles you missed out on good one. Many thanks to Polly Gralia and her co-worker for coming to inform and teach us about their unique puzzle-making business.

On Thursday, Oct. 14, at 10 a.m. our next program will be featuring Ed Howe with a presentation on Alaska. One adventure that sounds intriguing is a visit to a working gold mine. These monthly programs are open to the public and are free of charge.

Our summer book sale was very successful. Thank you to all who donated books and to all who came and purchased. You got a good buy and the library benefited.

We are still enjoying and still receiving many compliments on Mr. Gil Whitman's butterfly sculpture that is on the front lawn.

The following list of new books may be incomplete, as I think I have misplaced a list that our librarian, Althea Hathaway, gave me. However, do come in and check out any of the following and look around to see what else we have: "Plan Of Attack," Bob Woodward; "Kitchen Privileges," Mary Higgins Clark; "Digital Fortress" Dan Brown; "Blue Kingdom," Max Brand; "The Jane Austen Book Club," Karen Joy Fowler; "Skywriting," Jane Pauley; The Summer I Dared," Barbara Delinsky; "Hide Yourself Away," Mary Jane Clark; "Charming Grace," Deborah Smith; "Good Grief," Lolly Winston.

We have lots of children's books. Please come in and check us out.

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

Robert Spidell, Andover native currently residing in San Clemente, Calif., will be the featured speaker at the next Bethel Historical Society lecture of the 2004 series to be held on Thursday, Oct. 14, at the society's Dr. Moses Mason House meeting room, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Spidell will make a presentation on the history of his native town, which this year observes the bicentenary of its incorporation. Spidell has spent years studying the history of Andover, and last year edited and published a popular book on Pynellis. The lecture is free and open to anyone interested in attending.

Due to a scheduling conflict, the society's fall course, "Indian New England," that is being held in conjunction with the society's exhibit, "Molly Ockett and Her World," will begin on Thursday, Oct. 7, and continue each Wednesday for the next three weeks. Sessions will include introductory information at the first class; the second (Oct. 13) will cover Molly Ockett and her times, the third (Oct. 20) will focus on King Philip's War 1675-76, and the fourth (Oct. 27) will deal with captivity literature and later developments. The fee for the course will be $20 for non-members of the Bethel Historical Society and $15 for society members. The classes will be at the O'Neil Robinson House beginning at 7:30 p.m. Anyone wishing further information and/or to enroll should call the society office at 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910 or use the e-mail address: info@bethelmaine.org.

Ten more donors were added to the over 300 who have so far made gifts to the 2004 Bethel Historical Society Annual Fund. Among the most recent are: John Amann, Bethel; Elizabeth Bartlett, Fresno, Calif., in memory of Albert Bartlett; Fred and Marion Bither, Falmouth; Brian Kimball, Tallahassee, Fla.; Harry Kuzyk, Bethel, in memory of Barbara Kuzyk; Cheryl Burnham, Bethel; Charles and Mary Millard, Bristol, R.I.; Arlene G. Brown, Bethel, in memory of Robert Eichel. Much appreciation is expressed to all of the above for their generosity. Those wishing to make a tax-deductible gift to the society's 2004 Annual Fund should send it to the society at P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217-0012.

Nearly 1,200 members strong, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For over thirty-five years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. Since 1974, the society has operated from its 14 Broad Street headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House, a period house museum and research library. In 1999, it opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door at 10 Broad Street) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

Further information about the society and its activities may be obtained by calling 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910 or e-mailing: info@bethelhistorical.org. Additional information can also be obtained by checking the Web site: www.bethelhistorical.org. The mailing address is P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217-0012.

1918 CLUB

Chapter 7, the Maine International 1918 Club, was 30 years old in 2004. An anniversary party was held at Keeley's in Portland on Sept. 14, with 77 members and guests attending.

The international club of people born in 1918 was organized in Pennsylvania in 1960, strictly as a friendship club. Politics and religion were never discussed.

The Maine chapter, known as "The Chickadees," was started in 1974. There were international conventions throughout the United States every two years. The Maine chapter hosted conventions in 1978 and 1990 in Portland. Over 300 attended the 1990 convention. Also celebrated were 70th, 80th and 85th birthday parties.

The motto is: "Friends

Now, Friends We Be, Friends Through Eternity." Club colors are red, courage; white, purity; and blue, sincerity. Club bird is the dove, a symbol of peace. The club flower is the rose, a symbol of beauty and love.

There is a common bond when members meet, all born in 1918, many lost mothers with 1918 influenza and fathers served in World War I.

In 2004, the international officers in Rhode Island stopped publishing the bulletin. Maine chapter will continue to publish a monthly newsletter and hold at least six meetings a year. Many state chapters have folded due to age and health, but our friendships will continue.

Maine's projects were remembering children, under 12, with Christmas gifts through the Salvation Army. We also contribute $100 each to ten charities every year.

Maine chapter had 200 members but is now down to 91. This year we have met in Gray, Portland and Auburn and special gatherings in Rumford and East Andover.

The president of Chapter 7 Maine is Violet P. Swain, 1318, East Andover. She has been president for 15 years. She joined in 1978 and has held other offices and was Maine's newsletter editor for eight years and international editor for the bulletin for 10 years.

Her vice president is William B. Smith, 1843, Andover. Secretary is Mary L. Philbrick, 709, Kennebunkport and treasurer is Robert G. Webb, 1255, Westbrook.

At the September meeting Past President Harold Sanborn, 915, Portland, presented President Swain with a plaque for "Thanks and appreciation for your years of dedication and leadership."

Small Business... not Small Banking

It was Franklin Savings Bank's "can-do" attitude that clinched the deal for Erik and Cheryl Dickson of Erik Designs.

When they were expanding their sign and graphics business 12 years ago, some banks stalled in giving them an answer.

"Don Cummings said 'We'll take care of you' and he did," says Cheryl. "For a young couple just starting out and scared to death of a big debt, Donny made us feel comfortable."

"It's our Hometown Bank. You talk to the people who make the decisions," added Erik.

Georges Valley 2, Telstar 1; Oct. 5— Telstar's Blake Conrad scored in a loss to Georges Valley. Goalkeeper Terry Collins had 10 saves.

Mt. Abram 3, Telstar 1; Oct. 2— Telstar's Blake Conrad scored the Rebels' only goal in a loss to Mt. Abram. Terry Collins had 10 saves in goal.

Telstar 3, Jay 0; Sept. 29— Telstar's Ross Parker scored all three Rebel goals in a win over Jay. Terry Collins had four saves in goal.

Gould 4, Kents Hill - 2; Sept. 29 — Gould won its first game of the season. The scoring opened in the first half with a goal from Miles Spadone from 25 yards on a direct free kick. The rest of the half was played in both ends of the field with both teams coming close, but not finishing. The second half was a different story. Gould controlled the game by spreading the field and keeping possession of the ball. They created numerous scoring opportunities and won the battle in midfield. Though Kents Hill scored twice on a counter attack and off a free kick, Gould was able to score three times. The second goal for Gould came from Miles Spadone pressuring a defender in his own corner, who played a blind pass to the top of the box. Ian Siekman intercepted the pass and played a ball to Miles Martha, who calmly shot the ball in the back of the net as the Kents Hill keeper ran out toward him. The third Gould goal was created by a great delayed run by Art Weaver into the Kents Hill box. He was tripped, and Charles Parsons scored on the penalty kick. The last goal came from a free kick at about 30 yards out. Charles Parsons served a great ball to the far post, Ian Siekman out-jumped the goalkeeper to win the head ball. The ball was saved by Kents Hill on the goal line, but Miles Martha was there to head the ball into the back of the net to make the score 4-2.

Telstar 0, Wiscasset 0 (2 OT); Sept. 27 — Telstar and Wiscasset played to a scoreless tie in double overtime. "Great defense," said coach Tim Remington. "They played their best game all year against a good Wiscasset team."

Women's Varsity Field Hockey

Proctor 4, Gould 0; Oct. 2 — Gould had a slow start after a long bus ride and fell 3-0 in the first half. Gould came back in the second half with renewed energy and only let Proctor score once.

Gould 3, Hebron 2; Sept. 29— Gould was able to score three goals while only allowing two to Hebron. Hillary Hough put in two, while teammate Shannon Littlefield added the final goal. It was a very well played match for Gould.

Women's JV Soccer

Gould 8, Hyde 0; Oct. 2— Gould had a superb first match of the season to defeat Hyde. Goals were scored by Alexa Stark (3), Negin Delpour (4), Hannah Cowin (1). Coach Denise Manning described it as a "Great first game for the JV team," and looks forward to many more like it.

Women's Varsity Soccer

Gould 7, CVA 0; Sept. 29— Gould's Suzi Jump scored her first hat trick of the season while Heather Kelleher put two in and both Carley Rudd and Marina Schachowskoj scored a goal each (with 1 assist), in a win over CVA.

Gould Mountain Biking

Gould's mountain biking team traveled to Camden for their first race of the season series with Camden High School, Hebron, Kents Hill, and CVA. In the varsity race, Ben Bishop was 7th, Jonathan Kranzley was 14th, Chris Antonovics was 16th and Dan Zicarelli was 18th in a field of 20 finishers. In the JV bracket, Marc Humbert was fourth, Corey Swan 9th, James Hunt 10th, John Pendergast 13th, Alex Kerney 19th, Brad Bowden 24th, Adam Blackwell 26th, Lucien Childs-Mitchell 27th, and Nick Bean 28th. Every Gould racer finished his race, and for many it was their first racing experience. A great start to the season.

CVA 3, Gould 2 ; Sept. 29— Gould played CVA for the second time this season. While they were beaten soundly their first meet, the second time around kept CVA on their toes. Goalie Sam Wadhams had a great game in net, saving a large majority of shots. Both Fred Shin and Marcus Muller-Varain scored amazing shots. This was still a loss for Gould but the team played outstandingly the entire match.

TMS 3; Peru 1; Sept. 28— The TMS JV Soccer team defeated Peru in an extremely well played game at home. Sawyer Barter led all scorers with two goals on two assists from Michael MacKnight. Freedom Blackard added a goal on an assist from Darren Jodrey. "Daniel Vaughn and Darren Jodrey teamed up to play very good defense in goal. Every member of the team gave 110% in this game and the results were the best team effort of the season. Felicia Dumont was credited with three assists while playing hard on the forward line. Megan Bonney played a great game in the cage with several saves. OBSERVING 50 YEARS—The Gould Academy Class of 1954 had a strong turnout for its 50th reunion this past weekend. Eight members of the Class of 1984 also attended.

Gould reunion weekend draws several hundred alumni, friends

By MIKE POPOVIC

A warm fall day set the stage for Gould Academy alumni returning to the Bethel campus for this year's Alumni Weekend. Past graduates from the 1930s to 2003 gathered to talk about the old days and experience the life of today's Gould Academy student.

Those attending were also in a generous mood — a big boost for the weekend's fund-raising events.

Approximately 200 alumni (300 alumni and friends) came out for the weekend's events, including a large contingent from this year's 50th reunion class.

Alumni took advantage of their time on campus to visit classes and several sporting events. Those alumni not content to sit on the sidelines participated in the Eleventh Annual Frank Vogt Fun Run and Sunday's Golf Tournament.

At the Alumni Association's annual meeting, past graduates participated in a panel discussion with current students and faculty.

Topics ranged from the experience of a Gould Academy education to sports, performing arts and the Four Point Program.

Nathaniel True Bartholo-maei (Class of 1940) was honored as Alumnus of the Year. Nat has served Gould for decades as a loyal class agent who has rallied his classmates both for annual fund gifts and five-year class reunions.

Thayer Hutchinson, Class of 1974, opened a small art show in Gehring Art Gallery. The show will run until Thanksgiving.

Thanks to generous alumni, weekend events such as the silent and live auctions raised more than $3,300 for the Alumni Association, doubling last year's total.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU WHEN SELLERS SHOULD BEWARE
You contacted a Realtor to list your home, and the agent indicates that you might get more for your home than comparable homes on the market. After all, it just takes finding one person who is willing to pay your price - right? Some Realtors approach a listing appointment as if they are bidding for your home. Sellers often start out with an unrealistic opinion of their home's value, and there is often a strong temptation to go with a person who says what you want to hear. A good Realtor will back up their opinion of your home's value with hard data. The agent should give you information about homes that are currently on the market, and recent selling prices of similar properties. The most heroic marketing efforts won't work on a property that is overpriced. Even if you find a buyer who is willing to pay more than your home is worth, the sale could fall apart when the appraisal comes in lower than the agreed-upon price. Listen to everything, but be careful!

In Loving Memory of Richard Hutchins Murdered October 9, 1992

Friends may think we have forgotten when at times they see us smile. Little do they know, the heartaches that our smile hides all the while. Beautiful memories are wonderful things that last til the longest day they never wear out, they never get lost, and can never be given away. To some, you may be forgotten, to others, a part of the past. But to those who loved you and lost you, your memory will always last.
